Testing Audio and Video on Macintosh Devices

1. To test your computer’s audio connections, click the words “Test Computer Audio.”
2. Click on the box that says “Test Speaker”.
3. Use the drop-down menu to select the speaker you wish to use.

4. Then, use the drop-down menu to select your microphone.
   Speak into your microphone in a normal voice.
   You can adjust your input volume manually, or click the box next to the words “Automatically adjust microphone settings.”

   You can set your computer to always join audio by computer or mute your microphone when you join a Zoom meeting if you wish.
5. Click on the green icon with a video camera that says “Video” at the top of your screen.
6. Use the drop-down menu to select the camera you wish to use.

You can set your computer’s Zoom video experience in multiple ways below the drop-down menu.
